Other wills probated were those of William Hedec, late of 2415 North 19th street, who left effects valued at $77,000, which were disposed of by private bequests.

The personality of the estate of Amelia M. Schroeder has been appraised at $1505.00.

PHOTOPLAY PUTS CATS AT A BIG PREMIUM

The Mutual Had to Hire Forty-five From "Bide-a-Wee" to Finish Picture

Forty-five cats, black, white, yellow, gray, blue and fat, old and young, left their happy home at Bide-a-Wee, 418 East 28th street, New York city, the other day and went out in a big automobile to the Gaumont studio at Flushing, to appear with Cissy Fitzgerald in a motion picture, "A Corner in Cats," for the Mutual program.

Edwin Middleton, director of the comedy, after using every cat he could hire at the rate of five cents a day, found that he still lacked about 45. So he telephoned Mrs. H. W. Kibbe, president of the Bide-a-Wee home, which Mrs. George H. Gould, Mrs. Ulysses Grant, and a number of other prominent society women are interested in.

The picture "A Corner in Cats," tells the sad tale of the results of greed. Two enterprising crooks go to a new town and hire a big hall. They put up a sign to the effect that they will pay money for cats. The countryside quickly rids itself of feline pets.

The returns in the fly-awating contest at the Vitaphon plant in Flatbush, which has been going on all summer, have been tabulated and Hughie Mack is found to have won the tin cup offered for the greatest number of flies swatted. He was considered an odds-on favorite anyway, partly because of his area, the size of his swatters, and because of his natural tendency to sit still and give the flies a chance to light.

cards, paid for and issued by the anti-suffragists, were being passed over the bars of saloons at Camden, thus identifying the liquor interests with the opposition to the amendment.

For the first time in the history of New Jersey elections there will be women watchers at the polls tomorrow.

Everywhere political leaders are predicting victory, and the suffragists' optimism seems justified by the encouraging statements of some of the most astute men in the State.

ANOTHER CONVERT

Martin P. Devlin, Democratic leader and proselyter of Mercer County, which Trenton is the seat, is one of the most recent ones to declare in favor of suffrage.

"If the same education had been given the electors in Essex and Camden Counties," he said today, "as has been the case in Mercer County, there would not be even the slightest uncertainty as to the result."

and you can't make the denial too strong," said Bogbe when shown the alleged interview.

Mrs. Lavonia Engle, central campaign manager for the New Jersey Suffrage Association, said today that there was nothing to show that the cause would not win in Mercer County.

"There will be a victory in the entire State," she said, "by a good majority. Although there is a chance of losing in Camden and Essex Counties, there will be a big support in the rural sections and the prospects in general look bright for us tomorrow."

Frederick W. Gnichtel, former Judge of the Mercer Court of Common Pleas, said that he was greatly in favor of suffrage; that he was of the opinion that it would win at the election tomorrow, and that while he thought the vote would not be large, it would show that the work of the suffragists had borne fruit.

A parade, with banners and illuminations, will proceed up Broadway to the suffrage headquarters, where parties of speakers will be detailed to various sections of the city.
